Virginia Education Assessment Collaborative

The Virginia Education Assessment Collaborative (VEAC) is an outgrowth of several collaborations taking place between Educator Preparation Programs (EPP) in the Commonwealth of Virginia. The purpose of VEAC is to provide a centralized assessment structure for Virginia EPPs that standardizes and reduces the complexity of data collection for both the Virginia Department of Education (VDOE) and the Council for the Accreditation of Educator Preparation (CAEP).

VEAC Steering Committee

Chairs:

Jillian McGraw – University of Virginia
Joel Hanel - University of Richmond

Leaders:

Mandy Turner - University of Virginia
Adrienne Sullivan – George Mason University
Amy Thek – James Madison University
Angie Wetzel – Virginia Commonwealth University

Data Collection Process

VEAC partners submitted contact information for program completers to VEAC in January 2020. Initial recruitment for the survey was conducted on February 27, 2020 and was open with reminders through late July 2020.

Survey Response Rates

For our 2019-2020 Pilot VEAC fielded the Completer Survey to 2375 program completers from 17 of the 18 EPP pilot participants.

Upon closing the survey in July 2020, VEAC collected 832 (35%) complete and partial responses. Related to the 14 InTASC/VUPS items, VEAC collected between 666 (28%) to 680 (29%) responses. On the overall satisfaction item, VEAC collected 682 (29%) responses.

On the optional open-ended items, 532 (22%) completers provided a response to the program strengths item, and 506 (21%) completers provided a response to the program weaknesses item.

On the optional open-ended items, 532 (22%) completers provided a response to the program strengths item, and 506 (21%) completers provided a response to the program weaknesses item.

For the University of Virginia, the EPP had a 36% response rate on the VEAC Completer Survey based on the total number of contacts submitted to VEAC.

Overall Program Satisfaction

This section addresses the last of the 15 satisfaction items in the VEAC completers survey that asks “Overall, how satisfied are you with your preparation from $\{e://Field/Institution\}$?” Note that each respondent’s institution of higher education (IHE) is embedded in their unique survey. Respondents could respond “extremely dissatisfied, somewhat dissatisfied, neither satisfied nor dissatisfied, somewhat satisfied, or extremely satisfied.” On this overall satisfaction item, there were 682 responses.

To find the average overall satisfaction, responses are coded, from 1 to 5. Higher values indicate more satisfaction, and lower values indicate more dissatisfaction. Table 1 provides descriptive statistics on this scaled version of the overall satisfaction item.

Table 1: Overall Satisfaction Scaled Descriptive

	Mean	Standard Deviation	Standard Error	Lower 95% CI from Mean	Upper 95% CI from Mean	N

Included in this survey: graduating classes of 2019, 2018, and 2017

UVA participates in the Virginia Education Assessment Collaborative (<https://projectveac.org/>), a consortium of EPPs working to streamline data collection efforts in Virginia. The aggregate reports for the network and for UVA are available on UVA’s annual report website (<https://education.virginia.edu/making-impact>). These data are disaggregated by endorsement area below. To ensure confidentiality, data are combined to keep reporting groups greater than 5.
